“[Holon] gives us the opportunity to dip into the ocean of data we are collecting and put it into the workflow in much more discreet and specialized ways than any of those other interoperability mechanisms could conceive of doing.”

— Doug Dietzman, EVP, MiHIN

Backed by four US Patents, Holon's CollaborNet platform employs unique sensing technology, enabling it to recognize providers when they log into their EMRs, as well as patients — in context — when their charts are opened. CollaborNet solutions address interoperability challenges that hamper information delivery, seamlessly delivering precision information whenever and wherever it's needed.

The CollaborNet Platform

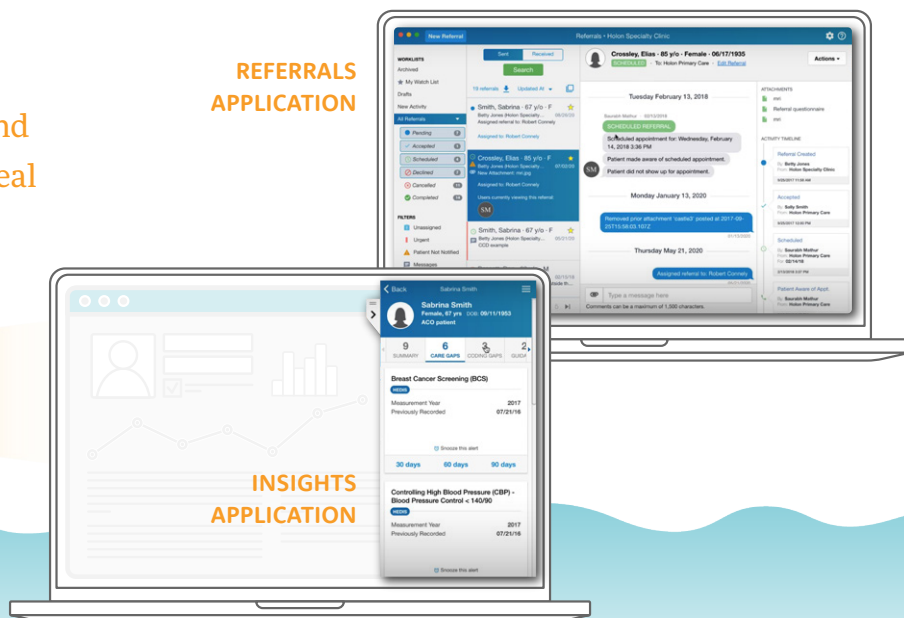

Delivering Insights and Powering Referrals

CollaborNet Insights and Referrals applications go to work for the healthcare team, proactively searching any number of third-party information systems for data relevant to that provider and patient at that moment. The applications deliver the most precise set of curated patient information back to the provider in an unobtrusive ribbon that displays alongside the patient chart in the EMR.

Holon's CollaborNet platform automatically curates, delivers, and presents precise information in real time within the EMR workflow.
